Fire Damages Old Dam Rd. Apartment

An unoccupied apartment in a duplex building on Old Dam Road was extensively damaged in a Monday afternoon fire that was reported by a school bus driver who was passing by.

Sheriff's deputies are continuing their investigation into the cause of the blaze which firefighters responded to at 3:45 p.m.

Firemen were able to contain the blaze from spreading to an adjoining apartment which was occupied when the fire broke out. Firemen remained on the scene for three hours.

Grayling Township firemen and sheriff's deputies also responded to the scene of a cabin fire in AuSable Woods on Wilcox Bridge Road on November 28th at 2:55 a.m. Cause of the fire, which damaged the floor of the building, is still under investigation. Firemen were on the scene almost two hours.

On Saturday at 10:15 a.m., sheriff's deputies were dispatched to Mercy Hospital where a victim of an accidental shooting had been transported for treatment by private vehicle. According to the sheriff's department, Donald Mackenzie of St. Clair, Michigan was hunting with two companions in South Branch Township and had returned to his car where he leaned his rifle on the rear bumper. The gun slipped off the vehicle and discharged, striking Mackenzie in the left wrist.

Mackenzie was transported by Crawford County ambulance to Munson Medical Center in Traverse City where he is reported in

Grayling To Host Arts and Crafts Extravaganza

What is shaping up to be one of the biggest Arts and Craft Shows in Northern Michigan will be held in the Grayling High School Cafeteria on Saturday, December 6. The show will open to the public at 10:30 and remain in operation throughout the entire day and evening. Over 30 artists and craftsmen will be on hand representing over twenty five different craft areas. All of the items to be on display are hand made and available for purchase. In many cases, the artists and craftsmen will be on hand demonstrating their talent, creating additional items which can be purchased by anxious Christmas Shoppers.

The artists and craftsmen who will be displaying at the Grayling Show and sale are coming from all across Northern Lower Michigan with representatives from Houghton Lake, Roscommon, Gaylord, Vanderbilt, Prudenville, Manton, Frederic, Lewiston and Lake George to be on hand. Ample parking space is available and a refreshment stand will be in operation throughout the day. There is no admission charge for this event which is being sponsored by the Grayling Community School Program.

Kirtland Funded For Twp. Program

The Northeast Michigan Public Officials Training Program was funded by the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission to bring expert training opportunities to the local officials in northeast Michigan. Until now, economical access to training resources and programs have been limited, as most of these types of activities are being scheduled for more populated areas of the state.

Over 100 northern township officials have recognized the importance of such a program, and will be attending a workshop at Kirtland Community College on Saturday, December 6, for new township officials. The workshop is co-sponsored by NEMPOTP, Michigan Township Association, and Kirtland Community College.

NEMPOTP Director, Marian Hennigar, is pleased with the public response to this program. She stated that NEMPOTP expects to have many other beneficial seminars and workshops that will provide expert information to local officials in assisting them to carry out their duties more effectively and in a less costly manner.

Outlines Short, Long Term Recommendations

Strategy Committee Formed To Study Labor Report

by Joe Schrader

Citizens concerned about economic growth in Crawford County are moving ahead following completion of a comprehensive study by the Michigan Dept. of Labor outlining material needs in the area.

The 200 page analysis was completed and endorsed by the Board of Commissioners the end of May. The report was prepared by James M. Houck, project director, and Richard Kibbey, community planning specialist of the Bureau of Employment & Training Job Development Division.

In an organizational meeting November 10th, group chairmen were appointed and the official Economic Adjustment Strategy Committee was formed. Roy Spangler, 4-H Extension Director for Crawford and Roscommon counties was elected chairman. Ted Kortess, Northern National Bank President, is Vice-Chairman. The committee's objective is to pursue and develop programs from recommendations contained in the economic report.

Other members include Mayor Sandy Thompson, Chamber Executive Duane Swift, Larry Mattis, representing Crawford County and Walt Nowak, Economic Development Corporation member.

Bernie Fowler represents the townships and other sub-committee heads include, Planning/Zoning, Mary Harland; School District, Bill Diedrich; Small Business/Industry, Ted Kortess; Tourism, Hertha Laupmanis; Transportation/National Guard, J.R. Lippert; Wood Products, Roy Spangler. Fowler was named secretary and Jan Cornell, liaison member.

In discussing the scope of the committee's aim, Spangler noted that an audio/video production has already been developed to promote and sell the area to interested business and industrial prospects. Steve Perry, Don Geiss and Wayne Hindmarsh coordinated and developed the presentation.

"This whole thing (the economic concern) started over a year ago," explained Spangler, who said a variety of ideas have been discussed in the various sub-committees and by the strategy committee.

Probably one of the most significant is the pursuit of a federal grant to finance installation of a power sub-station at the Weyerhaeuser site on Four Mile Road.

Spangler said Housing Commission Director Jan Cornell is in the process of filing for HUD funding satisfactory to the needs of Weyerhaeuser and Consumers Power Company, which if approved could lead to future revenue being available for other business or industrial development in the area.

Committee members are continuing to digest the content of the Labor Department report which deals with far-reaching topics ranging from the historic impact of Grayling and its natural resources to development of long range plans including 31 recommended projects which if implemented would result in approximately 350 new jobs to the area over the next five years.

The report also addresses the need for short term strategy (to 3 years), identifying those objectives which "maximize local involvement and effort to improve the economic well-being of Crawford County over the next three years." Broad areas of concern identified in the report include Small Business/Industry Development, Wood Products Industry, Tourism, Commercial/Retail

Vikes Host Ramblers This Friday Night

Coach Warren "Butch" Hayes, in his second season at the helm of the Grayling High cage squad, will lead the team into action Friday night against Boyne City here at home. Coach Tom Mills' JV squad will kick off the season action in the preliminary contest with tipoff time set for 6:30 p.m. at the Middle School gym.

Hayes' starting five will come from twelve picked to the squad this year, led by returning lettermen Scott Hale, John Junttila, Billy Roach and Scott Hamlin. The Vikes have their sights set on the Michigan Huron Shores Conference Championship this year and are out to improve on last year's sparkling, 17-5 record.

Grayling is expected to rely on speed, agility and a pressure defense against conference and non-league foes this year, including Reed City, last year's Class C State Champs, who host the Vikes in a road contest January 31st.

Gaylord copped the league crown last year with a 13-1 mark, the only loss coming at the hands of Grayling in their first encounter.

The balance of Grayling's team is made up of senior Eric Batway, a Newberry transfer student, and juniors Tracy Fagan, Terry & Jerry Norman, Ted Methner, Jamey Radebaugh, Brad Trenary and Jeff Kortess.

Jerry St. Germain is back this year as Asst. Coach with the varsity team and Dan Ullery will be assisting Mills with the junior squad, who posted a 14-6 record last season.

Food Stamps Facts

by Jack Mason

"There are absolutely no hard and fast rules concerning proper diet for all people at all times." So says Ms. Patricia Thomas, Director of the Grayling office of the Michigan Department of Social Services. "Age, activity, general health, environment, type of work, man, woman, child—are a few factors involved." Social Services has the job of administering the United States Department of Agriculture Food Stamp Program in this area. The Department has many pamphlets, brochures, etc., which can serve as general food and nutrition guides. "I hope everyone understands that the material we have can only advise, and that is all."

The County Health Department also has excellent nutritional material, and a great supply of information is at the Extension Service Office in the basement of the Court House.

"Basically, good daily nutritional balance would consist of protein, fruit, vegetable, and carbohydrates. However, some people might require a great deal more or less of any given time," she stated.

When it comes to the proper use of Food Stamps, just about all the Department of Social Services can do is hope that common sense and wise buying habits will be applied. "Sad to say, we do get reports of those using food stamps who continue to suffer from malnutrition. In some cases it is a medical problem; in others it is just a lack of knowledge about proper eating habits and food purchasing."

Available facts tend to indicate that a startling number of American families actually suffer from malnutrition of one kind or another. A sad commentary in this Land of Plenty.

"However, what is known is that even some who use Food Stamps do not seem to break the old poor nutritional habits," says Ms. Thomas. "When we continue to get reports about unwise use of the USDA Stamps, we start an investigation and, where warranted, make referral to the proper State agencies."

Ms. Thomas listed just a few of the common misconceptions people seem to have concerning nutrition.

First, that overweight people are well-nourished. Just the opposite is often the case.

Second, salt and sugar should

State Transpo Dept. Ready For Winter

Armed with a brigade of 1,200 municipal, county and state equipment operators and some 900 trucks, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) stands ready to fight this winter's storms.

Approximately $32.5 million has been allocated for snow and ice removal from the 9,472-mile state highway system, which carries more than half the traffic in the state. That compares with an expenditure of $24.5 million last winter, which was a mild one.

Donald E. Orne, the department's chief of maintenance, said MDOT will again maintain its "bare pavement" policy on heavily-traveled highways, which will receive continuous plowing until the pavement is clear.

Moderately-traveled routes will receive attention until the center portion of the pavement is clear, while lesser-used routes will be plowed until passable. They will remain snow-covered until they can be plowed during the normal work-day.

"Unless we have a disastrous blizzard, like the one in January of 1978, the department is well prepared for its snow removal operation," said Orne.

Dems To Meet Dec. 11th

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a Democratic Party Meeting will be held on Thursday, December 11, 1980, at 7 o'clock p.m., at Chief Shoppenagons. The purpose of this Meeting will be election of Officers.

"But at least 32 county road commissions say they will not be plowing side roads during off-hours or weekends because of reduced revenues from declining gas tax collection," he said. "Many commissions also are being forced to reduce the amount of plowing they do on main county roads."

Orne said there is a lot of snow to clear each winter. Using a mixture of manpower, heavy equipment, salt and sand, the department has cleared an estimated 805,000,000 cubic yards of snow from its

RSVP Mail Campaign

In launching the annual Retired Senior Volunteer Program Mail Campaign, Cynthia Sparks, Director said "RSVP has served Crawford County for 8 years and in doing so, it has been a happy alliance for both."

Serving the Community in a variety of ways, the 200 Senior Volunteer, contributes not only their time but experience talents, and skills. In accumulating over 10,000 hours of volunteering, they are contributing a dollar value of over $31,000.00 based on a minimum wage, to the community.

"With a Past to Remember, a Future to Mold", the Retired Senior Volunteer Program needs the financial support from the community to continue providing the services through the program.

SPORT NEW LOOK—Sheriff's Deputies are patrolling the county these days in newly-acquired vehicles, purchased late in October from the Lansing Police Department.

According to Sheriff Joe White, who negotiated the deal for the cars, they were bought "at considerable savings to the county." The two, 1979 Oldsmobiles were completely reconditioned prior to delivery and only radio installation and new paint jobs were required before they were pressed into service. Shown with the new vehicles are Deputy Bill Heemer (left) and Sergeant Barry Smith.

Two well-worn older vehicles with 100,000 plus miles were retired to make room for the new cars, which replace one-third of the department's active fleet. (Joe Schrader photo)

From Our Corner ...

Turkey day Leftovers...

For those interested, we had Thanksgiving day with our T.C. Family and out did ourselves with the white meat and all those trimmings that one just can't resist...at least we can't...some have the fortitude to say no thanks, not us...we are afraid we won't get enough of that turkey breast...so, with an alk, we hit the sack just to help the digestion of the plenty...

We did arrive a day early so that we could help T.J. celebrate her 7th birthday on the 26th...she's a big 1st grader now and she amazes us on how well she can con her sister Stef (little Iodine) into being the fault of anything that goes awry...but then she is the one who will have to fend for herself when Stef catches up...

Speaking of Turkey day in T.C., we had the chance to talk with John's brothers, Tommy and Jim, a Sergeant in the Michigan State Police, who told us that the Troopers had voted to take a 5% wage cut so that the troopers, who were scheduled to be laid off due the austerity budget our law makers are trying to come up with, will hold their jobs...

One of our thoughts during the conversation was if these troopers are giving a part of their wages to help their fellow troopers, how come we haven't heard from our law makers in giving up 5% per cent of their wages to help the entire state of Michigan, not just a branch...

We're sure their interest in the State of Michigan would enhance their public image and surely help in their re-election when the day comes, instead of having to go through all those promises that are very seldom kept...all they would have to say is look, I gave up part of my salary to help the state out of one more crisis they found themselves in...

And by the way...this would include the Governor as well as all the other high honchos in bureaus in Lansing. They could sacrifice a bit...we are sure Billy and his gang could afford it and still wouldn't have to stand in the food stamp line...

Going back to Turkey day...why we try to spend some time watching the Detroit Lions on TV is beyond us...as far as we were concerned, we're happy the game was over before we had our dinner...it was nauseating enough...we're afraid we'd lose the fine dinner we enjoyed...and the papers said that the Lions were going to pass over turkey and feast on bear...

We're working on this turkey a little bit Sunday afternoon just to get a head start...this is why this little tid-bit appears in the column this week...seems as how we had stopped at the Nickelodeon to see how R.J. was doing early today and told him to stop by the office when he closed up...the problem is, we shouldn't have invited him to stop by...seems as how R.J. has a one track mind...and he is always locking himself out of something...Sunday was his van...he told us that he was driving this year to spend Christmas in his beloved jungle New York City...with his experience last year of flying and taking a bus at different intervals, we mentioned to him that would be a good way to go, drive yourself, but, take about five sets of keys to the van, and don't put them all inside...trouble is, it is hard to get through to these young fellas' these days...

Again for those interested in our family...we talked to Dane, Cyd and Amber finally on Saturday evening and everything is fine out in Nevada...they were having friends from Utah for over the Thanksgiving weekend holiday...that is just a short jump north...I guess...

We got back a while ago from getting some new specs from our friendly eye doctor, Hookilau, and right now it is a little confusing...we knew the type on our new Smithy was big but, didn't realize how large...we're got used to the bifocals but the top lens are sort of different from the ones we became accustomed after nine years...that should tell you something about how I like to go to any doctor...only in dire emergency...

We are still trying to test out this new Smithy with the different type, to the layman it means nothing, but to us we have this certain space to fill up and we do not have all those electronics that big city papers have that will condense or enlarge to compensate for the space available...if you read this you know I haven't run out of our corner...

Time has come that we turn this turkey and all it's stuffs' over to Rena and see how it comes out of the computer...have a nice weekend...it is time for the thinking of good old St. Nick...there are a lot of goodies for under the Christmas tree right here in Grayling...

drive like a life depends on it.....
it does !!!!!!!

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

De-Sexing The Bible

Nothing seems sacred to the depraved minds of self-centered humanists. Liberals from the National Council of Churches will have decided by the time this article goes to print whether to attempt to de-sex the Bible. Thirty years ago these unbelievers altered dozens of verses in the Bible and thousands of words to produce the Revised Standard Version. If they do not de-sex the Bible by the mid-1980's it will be because of the grass-roots furor against such blasphemy.

The following verses are examples of change from the previous R.S.V. to a sexually neutral version:

"For God so loved the world that He gave his only Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have eternal life." John 3:16. This would change to, "God loved the world, loved it so much that the beloved Child of God was given to the world, and all who trust in this unique being will never perish but have eternal life."

"I go to the Father; for the Father is greater than I." John 14:28. This would change to, "I am returning to the Source of my being, for my Source is greater than I."

"And because you are sons, God has sent the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, crying, 'Abba! Father!'" This would change to, "And because you are sons and daughters, God has sent forth the spirit of the Child of God into our hearts, crying, 'My loving parent!'"

It does not take much brain power to see the systematic plans of Satan in these alterations. Thirty years ago the Revised Standard Version removed many, many verses and words of our Lord Jesus Christ and placed them in small print at the foot of the page. Then the attack was basically upon the integrity of our Lord's Word. Thirty years later the same bunch of liberals are attacking the person of God as well as His Word. It is amazing that some feminists think they must emasculate the God who made them, so they can be emancipated. Surely such blasphemy will not succeed! (adv.)

THOUGHT FOR FOOD

By GOULO CROOK

GINGERBREAD KIDS

2 ripe small Dole Bananas, peeled
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 1/2 teaspoons ground ginger
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup butter, softened
1/2 cup dark molasses

Slice bananas in blender. Whirl until pureed. Combine flour, soda, ginger and cinnamon. Cream sugar and butter until light and fluffy. Beat in molasses and bananas until blended. Stir in flour mixture with a wooden spoon. Dough will be stiff. Use hands to completely blend mixture. Refrigerate 1 hour. Divide dough into 4 parts. Roll each to 1/8 inch thickness. Use 5-inch gingerbread girl and boy cookie cutters to make cookies. Use favorite cookie cutters for any remaining dough. Bake on greased cookie sheets in 375°F oven 10 to 15 minutes until just brown around the edges. Cool. Decorate with favorite icing. Makes 30 to 35 cookies.

Cold Wind

The discomfort created by a brisk winter wind can make a liar out of the thermometer. For instance, a 30-mile-per-hour wind combined with a temperature of 30 F can have the same chilling effect on the body as a 2 F reading.

Frederic News

by Eva Hulbert

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Desnoyers and his sister Lucille Starzec and outreach Eva Hulbert had a most enjoyable day Wednesday, when we went on one of the mystery trips offered, to the senior citizens, once a month. With the driver there was 23 of us, which I might add the driver Del Nelson is a good driver, stopped at West Branch for breakfast. On our way we seen quite a few deer and ducks. On to Frankenmuth where we went to Bronner's Christmas Decorations, a store where Christmas is never out of season. The scenery and the many decorations to see and buy, gifts for everyone. They take inventory every month, that is quite a job in itself. They have so many different Nativity scenes, from miniature to life size. Then we went to the Bavarian Inn, where you could buy baked goods, cheese and a gift shop, and then had their chicken dinner. Then on to their tour of the town which was very interesting. We went to the Saginaw Mall to shop and supper at the Butternut Inn. Back home. Good time had by all.

Nephew John Avey overnight guest at Mr. and Mrs. Walter Desnoyers and taken his mother Lucille Starzec back home, after spending the week at her brothers home.

The Senior Citizen Satellites Dinner for Frederic and Maple Forest will be on Friday, December 5th at the Frederic Elementary School. We'll be eating at 1:00 p.m. The program will involve a talk on "Winterization". Let's exchange a gift but keep it at a $2.00 limit and mark the package lady or man. Call the Center (348-9314) or Outreach, Eva Hulbert (348-9477) for dinner. Hope to see you there!

Discount Pictures for Senior Citizens will be taken at the Center on Monday, December 8th between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. Smile!

Mrs. Raymond Brown and Eva Hulbert had a good time on Wednesday at the Center when they attended the Thanksgiving dinner. Mrs. Brown enjoyed the company of some old friends there.

Visitors at the Kenneth Allen home this past week were Mrs. Esther Gibbons or Ortonville, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Allen and son Rick and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Allen and daughter Denise of Lansing, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Yarsevich and son Dale of Grand Ledge, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barnard and sons James and John of Bath and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen and children Clark and Claudine of Grayling.

Jim and Brenda Hulbert and daughter Pamela of Albion spent the week at his mothers visiting relatives in the Alma and Hulbert families. Jim helped out at Daniel's Band sponsored by First Baptist Church. There were 70 in attendance, so help each week is needed. Brian and Judy Hulbert and son Eric of Holland were visiting over the Thanksgiving weekend at his mothers and her parents Rev. and Mrs. Robert Taylor. Other guests for the Thanksgiving dinner were Dennis and Pattie Sloan, son Colby and daughter Nikki and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Desnoyers, Sheila and son Shane from Filion and friend Vickie from Bay City also visited for a few days.

Jim, Brenda and Pamela also had a Thanksgiving dinner at her grandparents Maurice and Ruby Alma with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Bradstreet and family from Lansing. Valerie (Bradstreet) Reed of Parma, Ohio also spent the holiday with the Alma family.

Brian, Judy and Eric had Thanksgiving dinner Saturday at the Taylor's. Other family attending were Carolyn Smith and children of Mason, Terry and Debbie Peters and family of Pickney, Wayne and Janice Becksoort and family of Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Taylor and family of Brighton, and Dave Taylor and children of Hillman.

GRAYLING ELEMENTARY SCHOOL NEWS—Fourth grade teacher, Mrs. McEvers, is shown giving last-minute instructions to four "Indians," Theresa Doe, Christina Davis, Amy Ashton, and Carl Kitchen, while waiting for the program to begin. The fourth graders held their annual Thanksgiving Day Feast on Wednesday, November 26, 1980, at the Grayling Elementary School Multi-purpose room. The feast was prepared by the school cooks with the addition of pumpkin pies and cornbread furnished by fourth grade parents. Mothers also volunteered for serving the "Pilgrims" and "Indians" who attended the feast. Following the traditional chicken dinner a program was held with teacher, Mr. Hayes, acting as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Akers' Indians presented a song and dance skit followed by Indian arm wrestling. The Pilgrims from Mr. Hatfield's class gave the story of Thanksgiving and Mrs. McEvers' class presented an Indian play. Closing the program was Mr. Hayes' class with a skit depicting how the Pilgrims adopted the Indian lifestyle in order to survive. Probably the liveliest part of the day was the conclusion in which Indians and Pilgrims bartered with various things that they had brought from home. (Fay Bovee Photo)

Baker Bags Biggest Buck

A Grayling resident was pronounced the winner of the 1980 Red Coat Round Up sponsored each year by the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce. Harold Baker of Grayling won in three categories with his 10 point, 177 lbs. whitetail.

Cal Walls, chairman of this years event, said that even though more hunters registered (205) than ever before only four of those registrants were successful in the opening day contest.

Walls added, however, that about 25 successful hunters brought deer into the buck pole in the city park to be weighed, but only four were registered prior to opening day. Baker received $110 for his winning entry, but he was not the only Grayling resident to go home with some bucks for his buck.

16 year old Vern Overmyer walked off with a $20 gift certificate from R & H Sport Center being the youngest successful hunter. Other bucks on the pole belonged to Craig Stewart also of Grayling and John Bristow of Madison Heights, they received $10 each.

Walls said plans are already underway to make the 1981 Red Coat Round Up, which is the states oldest opening day buck contest, even more successful than this years.

Mrs. Akers has three different classes for math and they learned four different ways of doing multiplication. One is called the lattice method and the other is the short method. These two are their favorite ones they like to do. They are also doing math problems (times with sixes and sevens). Also they are doing a play called Indian Pow-wow. # Agreement Reached on Pigeon River Drilling

by Warren M. Hoyt

Oil and gas drilling in the Pigeon River Forest Country could begin as early as January as a result of a compromise agreement reached between environmental groups and oil companies holding leases in the area.

The agreement could solve a 12-year struggle between the groups. The battle has been in and out of the courts for the duration of the period which saw the state Supreme Court invalidate a previous consent agreement.

Webb Smith, attorney for the principal oil companies involved said all parties in the controversy still believe in the 1976 consent order but the companies have agreed to more stringent controls to resolve the impasse.

Smith represented Amoco Production Company, Shell Oil Company, and the Northern Michigan Exploration Company.

The consent order was approved by the Natural Resources

Commission providing environmental requirements for the extraction of oil and gas from the environmentally sensitive area.

The order provided for the oil companies holding leases to drill on 10 sites in the least sensitive area in the southern one-third of the 96,000 acre forest area.

Ken Sikkema, executive director of the West Michigan Environmental Action Council which has been waging a court battle to stop the drilling, said the lease is still the forest and its protection.

He said the protection issue is maintained in the proposed compromise. He also defended a shift from a previous "no drill" stance by stating that environmentalists have to be flexible to make any environmental progress.

Sikkema said the state's economic condition was a major factor in the compromise position taken by the environmental groups.

"You can't make an environmental case to a person who is unemployed," he said.

To carry out the terms of the agreement, legislative, judicial, and administrative action must be carried out.

The Legislature would have to complete action on a bill (SB 1119) by including within the language provisions of the new agreement.

The courts would have to, upon the request of the plaintiffs, to vacate injunctions which halted drilling at the 10 test sites and other parts of the forest.

The Natural Resources Commission also must amend its original consent order to include additional provisions of the agreement.

Specifics of the agreement include sequential drilling moving from the most sensitive area to another area only after compliance with a variety of protections.

The oil companies also would fund studies on general improvements to forest management techniques while time and production limits would be imposed and marginal wells would be closed.

A public advisory panel to oversee activity in the forest would be created and the Department of Natural Resources would be charged with increased surveillance duties at all well sites.

Additionally, the parties have agreed that the director of the Department of Natural Resources should develop stringent gate and lock requirement for all access roads, restrictions of off-road vehicle usage, stricter brine and sour gas disposal procedures and update all contingency plans associated with the original 1976 consent order.

Gas Tax Revenues Fall Sharply

State revenue for work on Michigan's highways, county roads and municipal streets dropped sharply in the third quarter of the year compared to last, dipping 11% according to a recent release from the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT). The decline was the sharpest in a single quarter since the outbreak of World War II.

Contributing to the downturn were steeper fuel prices and reduced driving, coupled with the trend toward lighter, more fuel-efficient automobiles. MDOT Director John P. Woodford said "the unavoidable result will be another reduction in the level of service. Municipal and small-bus systems throughout the state will suffer the same result, as will other transportation programs."

Crawford County will receive $155,176 compared to $173,932 a year ago and the City of Grayling will receive $9,885 compared to $11,095 in 1979.

Neighboring counties and the amounts they will receive are: Kalkaska ($187,961), Otsego ($191,657) and Roscommon ($195,955). Cities in those counties and the amounts they will receive are: Gaylord ($14,225), Kalkaska ($9,495) and Roscommon ($4,820).

The 83 county road commissions will collect $42,440,903 as their 34.3% share, compared with $47,640,430 they collected a year ago.

Together, the state, counties and municipalities maintain nearly 117,000 miles of highways, roads and streets.

The Almanack

South Jersey seeks statehood

RICHARD MILLIMAN

People in Michigan's Upper Peninsula better get on the ball, or they might have to become the 53rd state instead of the 51st.

Reference is to the recurring campaign in Michigan's northland to split off from the lower portion of the state and become the independent State of Superior, or some such name.

So much of Michigan's commerce and government is controlled below the Straits of Mackinac, that often the hardy folks in the Upper Peninsula think they'd be better off with their own state.

Although the usual plan is for Michigan's Upper Peninsula to be divided from Michigan's Lower Peninsula, sometimes the suggestion is made that the northern part of the Lower Peninsula—roughly from Grayling northward—should be part of the new state of Superior, thus freeing itself from the yoke of Detroit-Lansing domination.

Lately not much has surfaced about this exercise—possibly because the state legislators from the Upper Peninsula have been in Lansing so long they control several of the key committees.

Usually The Almanack has applauded such enterprise, and encouraged separation. I think a separate state of Superior would be a fine idea. The more the merrier.

But the U.P. is falling behind. In the November 4 election, two other disenfranchised areas took steps of one sort or another to achieve statehood.

The District of Columbia, long has sought statehood in place of its unique status as a federal city. The primary advantage, as I understand it, is that the people of the District of Columbia then would have two United States Senators and at least one Congressman, instead of the present single delegate to Congress. I guess I don't have any quarrel with the State of Columbia either.

Another movement that's not so well known way out here in the Midwest, however, is the campaign for separation of New Jersey into two states—North Jersey and South Jersey.

In the November 4 election, voters in six South Jersey counties voted to move ahead with as plan to seek secession into the 51st state. The numbering, of course, depends on whether Columbia or Superior or someone else gets there ahead of South Jersey.

Two other counties in the southern part of New Jersey also would join the new state, although they refused to vote on it November 4. The new state would have about 1.8 million population, and would include Atlantic City, which is a real revenue plum now that casino gambling is legal there.

The arguments in Jersey are familiar. South Jersey is largely seashore and agricultural, and is oriented toward Philadelphia; residents in South Jersey long have been suspicious of its state government in Trenton, in the north, contending it is controlled by urban and industrial interests more closely allied with New York.

Similar concerns emerge from time to time in California, too, with a split between Northern California interests, centered on San Francisco and Sacramento, versus Southern California interests, lined up more with Los Angeles and San Diego.

What will happen in South Jersey is anyone's guess. But it's clear Michigan will have to get on the ball if part of Michigan is to become the 51st state. South Jersey may get there ahead of Superior...or Columbia might be there first.

Seeking statehood is like shopping in a crowded store: Pick a number and get in line.

Some closing Nuts and Bolts from Hod Shewell:

- A youthful figure is what a middle-age woman offers when asked her age.

- What keeps the U.S. Postal Service in the black are the millions of gripe letters sent to Congress.

- On some campuses today, the most popular dorm is Alco-Hall.

- A losing football coach needs a much better line than his team.

- The most dramatic speech a politician ever utters is what he tells his wife when he gets home after a late rally.

- The dad who won't let his son go to his eighth grade party probably remembers what he did at his.

- The line most difficult to get around at a football game is the one your car is in.

WIN CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHIES—Pictured above is the Grayling Middle School 7th Grade basketball team, who walked off with the championship trophy in the school's Invitational Tournament by posting a 26-14 win over Houghton Lake November 12th. The squad advanced to the finals by beating Kalkaska earlier in first round action, 32-25.

Below is the Houghton Lake Bobcat 8th Grade team, who beat Grayling, 17-14 in the finals to cop the trophy in their division.

Coach Glennis Austin guided the 7th Graders to a 15-3 season record and team members included Julie Montgomery, Kim Springer, Tina Meldrum, Lisa Spina, Julie Headlee, Piper Ostrowski, Chris Mahaney, Amy Henion, Missy Madsen, Lori Pfaff, Jody Harwood, Stacey Campbell, Stephanie Hindmarsh, Dalynn Grant and Carrie Stephan. The next meeting is set for next Tuesday, December 9th.

be used according to taste. Actually, many nutritionists are coming to believe neither should be on a table, but served if requested and in most cases used in moderation.

Third, potatoes and bread are fattening. Not necessarily true, especially enriched bread. Potato is a carbohydrate and needed for energy.

Fourth, milk is always good. Not necessarily true at all ages or for all people.

Fifth, hot dogs are junk food. Not true, especially in Michigan, where State quality requirements are the highest in the Nation, far exceeding Federal standards.

"The list goes on and on," she stated. "Actually, the only thing everyone seems to agree on is that the container should not be eaten."

Today's falling tax revenues are being felt by those on various State and Federal assistance programs.

"This is no threat; it's a hard, cold reality," said Ms. Thomas. "And the effect has already been felt, with more to come. If people don't use Food Stamps to the best of their ability, and with qualified advice from a physician or nutritionist, our Programs will be of little or no use to those we serve. The American public just cannot afford to be indifferent or unwise in such matters as nutrition."

Next week's Avalanche will carry a basic food group listing to be used in planning food purchases.

He said the department has adequate amounts of salt on hand to keep the roads safe this season. Because salt is the most effective ice fighting chemical available, MDOT uses approximately 342,466 tons of it a year. When temperatures dip below 15 degrees, however, salt loses its effectiveness, and MDOT uses sand to aid traffic over slick road surfaces until they can be cleared.

Jurkovich Family Featured In Carolina Newspaper

Tommy and Belle Jurkovich of Pendleton, South Carolina, foster parents of seven children over the past 11 years, were featured recently in an article written by Staff Writer Jo Bostic of the HOMETOWNER, an Anderson, S.C. weekly newspaper.

Parents of the couple are Dr. & Mrs. Len Allison and Mrs. Thomas Jurkovich and the late Thomas Jurkovich. The Allison's and Mrs. Jurkovich reside in Grayling.

The article describes how the Jurkovich family was inspired to raise the foster children, all infants, prior to their formal adoption. The infants were raised along with Collin, their only son. Ms. Bostic quotes Mrs. Jurkovich as saying, "I did not conceive after Collin was born, but we definitely wanted a baby around the house, personally, and for Collin...I did not want him to grow up as an only child."

The article describes how the family, under the guidance of the Dept. of Social Services, cultivated "the type of home you would like to leave your child in, if you had to."

The Jurkovich foster parent plan started out in Connecticut where Tommy was stationed with the U.S. Navy. They cared for three children there before he was transferred to the state of Washington, where they applied for another child but were turned down because Tommy's assignment there was temporary. When Jurkovich was discharged, the family moved to Anderson, S.C., where friends from Pickens County rekindled their desire to have pre-adoptive children once again.

The article quotes Mrs. Jurkovich as saying, "I have had so many people tell us that they cannot understand how we can bring a baby into our home, love it like our own, and then give it up for adoption."

"The first feeling I have when I know a child is to be adopted is a good one. I know that the baby is always going to have someone and that makes it possible for us to give the infant up when the time comes."

Being foster parents does have its drawbacks, but the Jurkovich's seem to have no regrets. "The first foster child that we took after we moved to Pendleton was 17 months old. We kept him until he was 26 months," Mrs. Jurkovich said. "We realized that emotionally we were not equipped to handle a child that called us Mommy and Daddy, told us that he loved us, and then moved on. 'This particular child did have a happy ending, because he has since been adopted,' she said.

During the same time, the family was also caring for another infant. It was the first time the family had the experience of having more than one foster child in their home.

The Jurkovich's have no foster children now, but they hope to have another baby when their schedule permits, most likely in April of next year.

Mrs. Jurkovich credits the Dept. of Social Services with handling pre-adoptive infants and parents with great care. Her family has added to that care by keeping a scrapbook of each infant on their own in addition to one the DSS maintains, and recently were able to send a photograph, taken when one of their children was 11 days old, to the adoptive parents.

Mrs. Jurkovich calls the plight of a foster child a delicate thing, physically and emotionally. "Infants need to be fed, held and loved, and not necessarily in that order," she is quoted as saying. She continued, "the pay is low, the hours long and, having had only seven children in the past 11 years, it is not exactly steady employment."

The article concludes by telling of the love the pre-adoptive children have been given in the Jurkovich home.

"We have them for such a short time," she continued, "that you really feel that you don't make an impact on their lives and they will never remember you."

"But the fact is that I feel the first two years of any child's life mold the rest of their life."

Attend the Church of Your Choice

What is forever?

Last week there was all the tenderness of young love. Today they broke up. And there is hurt in the wake of love — disillusion and bitterness.

What about you? Did you marry your high school sweetheart? Few of us do. Most of us have been through experiences like this, yet we survived.

And some of us who did marry our high school sweethearts lived on to find that it didn't work out. We had the trauma of divorce, which inflicts much deeper wounds.

Where did we turn? What did we do? It depends on how long ago it was. Because there was a time when you didn't turn to the church about divorce and other problems which, like it or not, are a part of life.

No longer. Today's church is with you in all things. Try it and see!

Announce Marriage

JoAnne Perry and Marilyn Neuberger were united in marriage on Saturday evening,
November 29, 1980, in Grayling.
Attending the couple were Nancy
Maisano and Scott
Reininger, both of Grayling.

JoAnne is the daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. James W. Wiltse of Grayling and Marilyn is the son of Mrs. Irene Neuberger of Ackley, Iowa.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Chief Shopenagons' Viking Room.
Guests were from Iowa,
Owosso, and Grayling.

On Friday evening, the Wiltse entertained with a family dinner. Guests, besides the groom's mother, were his three brothers, Ron and wife, Karen,
Diane, and daughter, and Brent, all of Iowa, who were here to attend the wedding.

The newlyweds left on Sunday fair condition.

A 32-year old Lansing man was injured early Sunday morning in a snowmobile mishap east of Grayling. The victim, identified as Dennis Michael Trentham, was injured when he lost control of the machine he was driving shortly after midnight and it flipped over.

Companions sought help from a nearby home and ambulance corpsmen and sheriff's deputies traveled approximately two miles into the woods to reach and treat Trentham.

He was then taken to Mercy Hospital for treatment. The accident occurred about five miles southeast of Grayling off Green-tree Drive.

Heavy area traffic and a Saturday snowfall were contributing factors in a total of nineteen personal damage accidents logged in the police report for last week.

Five DUI's were reported and deputies responded to forty other complaints during the period, including a pair of larcenies and breaking & entering incidents. An abandoned vehicle was located and the ambulance made four runs during the week, which contained complaints ranging from reckless driving to writ arrests.
